

Fleet Street at the Reformation 1538-40

No. 117

THE HERITAGE of FLEET STREET

April 2026

The map shows that the largest block of land belonged to the Knights Hospitaller and had already been let to two groups of lawyers, now known as the Inner and Middle Temple. The two next-largest areas are occupied by the Carmelite Priory and, across the River Fleet, the Dominican Priory. The numbers refer to the map above. Additional notes on some of the owners mentioned below can be found in additional notes on our website.

Additional notes:

The Knights of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem, a medieval military and religious order formed around 1100 and originally concerned with providing hospital facilities in Jerusalem for needy pilgrims. (It had originally belonged to the Knights Templar until their suppression in 1307). Their remit and importance were much broadened by a papal charter to ensure the care and defence of the Holy Land. After the fall of Jerusalem in 1291, the Order was suppressed in England in 1540.

The Priory of St. Mary Overy (7) was in Southwark; the abbey buildings are now largely incorporated into Southwark Cathedral. Overy means over the river.

The Abbey of Vale Royal (8) was founded by Edward I in Whitegate, Cheshire. Some of the buildings survive.

Ankerwyke Priory was founded in 1160 in Buckinghamshire for Benedictine nuns. The exact location of other property within the mapped area is not known, but it includes the Priory of Alnwick in Northumberland, Rochester Priory, College of Acon, St. Mary Grace Monastery and the Abbey of Godstone.
