

Architecture of Fleet Street

South Side - from Pleydell Court to Ludgate Circus

No. 146

THE HERITAGE of FLEET STREET

April 2026

Child's Bank (No. 1)

Grand stone bank with giant Corinthian columns. Original NatWest signs remain. 1878. Grade II*.

S. Weingott & Son (No. 3)

1912 shopfront with large metal windows. Grade II.

Middle Temple Gateway

1684 red brick gateway with giant Ionic columns. Grade I.

Legal & General Assurance (No. 10)

Brick and terracotta building in Flemish style. 1885. Grade II.

Union Bank of London (No. 13-14)

Stone bank with a grand Neoclassical frontage. 1856. Grade II.

Wildy & Sons (No. 15-16)

Ornate narrow frontage with a Venetian window. 1856.

Inner Temple Gateway

(Prince Henry's Room - No. 17)

Half-timbered gateway of 1610-11. Rare pre-Great Fire survivor. Grade II*.

Goslings & Sharpe (No. 18-19)

Renaissance Revival bank with bold Classical details. 1898. Grade II.

London & Provincial Life Assurance (No. 21)

Italian Renaissance style with carved stonework. 1853. Grade II.

Ye Olde Cock Tavern (No. 22)

Tudor Revival frontage. 1912. Grade II.

Temple Bar House (No. 23-28)

Classical building with Baroque details. 1902.

Promoter Insurance (No. 29)

Victorian building with carved stonework and arched attic windows. 1860. Grade II.

Messrs Philip (No. 30-32)

Stone frontage with decorative window canopies. 1883. Grade II.

No. 33

Plain Georgian brick house. Home of Murray's Publishers. Grade II.

Hoare's Bank (No. 37)

Elegant stone bank with fine interiors. Still in use. 1829. Grade II*.

No. 40-43

Neoclassical building with columns. 1913.

Mitre House (No. 44-45)

Classical building, Art Deco touches. 1929.

London News Agency (No. 46)

Simple building with original lettering.

El Vino Wine Bar (No. 47)

Historic wine bar with original sign and interiors. Inspired Rumpole of the Bailey.

Norwich Union Insurance (No. 49-50)

Grand Edwardian building with arches and columns. 1911-12. Grade II.

No. 53

Colourful brick façade with Gothic-style bay windows. c.1905.

Clifford Milburn & Co. (No. 54)

Simple vertical design. 1927.

No. 55

Brick and stone building with simple Classical details. 1930s.