

Architecture of Fleet Street

South Side - from Pleydell Court to Ludgate Circus

No. 147

THE HERITAGE of FLEET STREET

April 2026

Glasgow Herald (No.56-57)

Tall Art Deco building with granite frontage and a large bow window. 1927. Grade II.

No.58-59

Traditional late C19/early C20 buildings. No.58 has better Queen Anne details. Now one building.

No.60

Former home of clockmaker George Adams. Georgian upper floors.

J Lyons Café (No.61)

Former tea shop with Baroque Revival frontage. 1910.

JUNCTION WITH BOUVERIE STREET

The Scotsman (No.63)

Stripped Classical building with balconies and newspaper-themed sculpture. 1921.

No.64-65

Postmodern building with a large entrance arch. 1988.

The Tipperary (No.66)

Post-Fire building dating from 1667, remodelled in 1895. Grade II.

No.67

Simple corner building with rounded frontage. 1926.

JUNCTION WITH WHITEFRIARS STREET

Nos.68-85

This frontage, including Barclays Bank and Chronicle House, was demolished in 2022.

JUNCTION WITH SALISBURY COURT

Reuters & Press Association Building (No.82-85)

Stripped Classical building with a tall entrance arch. 1934-38. Grade II.

Birmingham Post (No.88)

Edwardian newspaper office with rich decoration. 1900.

No.89

Brick building with stone dressings and an Art Nouveau number plaque.

St Bartholomew House (No.90-94)

Tudoresque building with gables, arches and carved details. 1900. Grade II.

The Old Bell (No.95) & No.96

Probable C17 buildings with Victorian façades. The pub is at No.95. Grade II.

No.97

Late Victorian brick building with a chamfered corner.

The Punch Tavern (No.98-100)

Victorian pub with carved stonework, colourful tiles and ornate interiors. 1894.

No.101

Late Victorian brick building. Former cigar and snuff factory.